

PRIVACY NOTICE for JULIA DAVIS ACUPUNCTURE

This notice is to explain why I collect your personal data, and what I do with it, and to ensure I am working in accordance with the Data Protection Act 2018; terms from the act are indicated in bold below.

When you supply your personal details to me, when we communicate by email, and when I take notes in the clinic, this information is stored and processed for four reasons in line with the Data Protection Act requirements:

1. I need to collect personal information about your health in order to provide you with the best possible treatment. Your requesting treatment and our agreement to provide that care constitutes in law an (unwritten) contract.
2. I have a legitimate interest in collecting that information, because without it I couldn't practice acupuncture effectively and safely.
3. I keep records of your contact information because I think that it is important that I can contact you in order to confirm your appointments with me or to update you on matters related to your medical care. This again constitutes a legitimate interest, but this time it is your legitimate interest.
4. Provided I have your consent (and this only needs to be verbal consent), I may occasionally send you individualised health information by email in the form of articles or advice. I will not send out generalised leaflets or advertisements. You may withdraw this consent at any time – just let me know by any convenient method.

I have a legal obligation to retain your records for 8 years after your most recent appointment (or after you have reached age 25, if this is longer). After this time you can ask me to delete your records if you wish.

Your clinical records are stored on paper, in individual paper files, and in a secure cabinet in my home. They are not left overnight in the clinic.

Your emails are stored within my email account which is password protected.

I also keep a file on my password protected computer at home which stores client invoices. These invoices mostly record dates of acupuncture appointments and names of clients. Some record addresses of clients only if requested by the client for the purposes of claiming clinic fees on insurance. These documents are only seen by myself and are purely for personal financial record keeping.

I am the only person who has access to your records, invoice files and emails. I will never share your information with anyone who does not have a legal right of access without your written consent.

You have the right to see what personal data of yours I hold, and you can also ask me to correct any factual errors. I am legally required to respond to any request from a client to see their personal data within a timescale of 30 days. However, I would ensure that I responded as soon as I possibly could to any reasonable request for access to personal records.

On some occasions when I am not available, I may refer you to an acupuncture colleague. In that case I will ask you whether you agree or object to information about your health being passed on to my colleague and will act accordingly.

I want you to be absolutely confident that I am treating your personal data responsibly, and that I will do everything I can to make sure that the only people who can access that data have a genuine need to do so. In the case of my practice this would most likely apply in the situation of me needing to make a referral to another health professional. Other than for emergency treatment I will always ask you whether you agree or object to information about your health being passed on to another health practitioner and will act accordingly.

If you feel that I am mishandling your personal data in some way, you have the right to complain. Please first raise your concern with me, as I hope I will be able deal with any concerns you might have. However, you can also raise a concern directly with the Information Commissioner's Office on www.ico.org.uk/concerns/
